PREFACE.

The recorded Institutions in the Diocese of Hereford from A.D. 275 to 1539 are printed in the various episcopal Registers issued by he Cantilupe Society. On the conclusion of that Society's work, I vas urged, from many quarters, to compile a list of the Institutions rom 1539 to the present day, which I have accordingly done.

There are two great gaps in the record—the episcopate of Bishop Vestphaling (1586—1603), whose Register is lost, and the period of he Civil War (1636—1661), when no Institutions are recorded. Some lso of the existing Registers would seem to have been very carelessly ept—e.g. that of Bishop Scory and that of Bishop Bennett (in which o Institution is entered for eight successive years). In the eighteenth entury there is even a note in the Ironside Register that entries of nstitutions "have been discontinued many years by ye fault of e Registers deputys." Throughout this century Ordinations and nstitutions are sometimes added as an afterthought in the margin, cence for or confirmation of the appropriation of seats in the parish hurches being apparently of greater importance, since such matters ake up many pages in the Registers. Even down to the middle of he nineteenth century entries are made entirely out of chronological rder, and sometimes twice over, on different pages.

1—These three entries, immediately following one another, seem to imply a dispute as to patronage. But no explanation is given. Quite two-thirds of the institutions during Bishop Scory's episcopate were of men appointed under "concession" (i.e. sale ?) of the next presentation. Even the bishop "conceded" the appointment of canons. But, except in a few instances, I have only given the name of the real patron.

1—These institutions are in the Field Register, but were made in the vacancy of the see. The Register is very confusedly kept, and contains no institutions during the time Theophilus Field was actually bishop (Dec. 15, 1635—June 2, 1636). But on fol. 104b, with no explanation, four old institutions to Coreley are entered:—Dec. 5, 1508, Thomas Adderley (patrons, William Ottley and Margaret, his wife); March 2, 1515, Richard Luce (patron, Thomas Ottley); Dec. 2, 1519, William Waddington (patrons, William Ottley and Margaret, his wife); March 3, 1591, on death of Rowland Longvill, John Bragger (patron, Richard Ottley).

2—Between 1635 and 1661 there are no Institutions entered in the Registers—a few notices of sequestrations being the only references to parochial affairs. The Institutions of 1661 are entered in the Croft Register, although they must have been made by bishop Nicholas Monk (consecrated Jan. 6; died Dec. 17, 1661).

1—There is some difficulty about this entry. The collation is said to be to the "Canon Residentiaryship vacant by the death of Henry Huntingford." But Henry Huntingford held the prebend of Barton Colwall, and was succeeded in it by Richard Underwood. It would seem that, as often in earlier centuries, the appointment was to a "Canon Residentiaryship" without a prebend.
